Vice-Chancellor's Message

The information technology revolution has helped tremendously in bringing the world closer to the level of a global village. Under the circumstances, not a single nation can live in isolation. Every nation has to play its role in the well being and uplift of the global community.

In order to fulfill our responsibilities we have to work objectively towards achieving excellence in all spheres of human interactions. This demands giving up our present lethargy and hibernation and adopting high standards of discipline, efficiency, professionalism and integrity at all levels.

We cannot safeguard our national interests unless we change our social conduct and attitude. The present level of our society is a direct out come of our poor human conduct, intolerance, injustice, inequity, incompetent and selfish leadership and lack of foresight on part of those running the state machinery. To this end we have to follow and practice the sacred injunctions in their true spirit, and not merely practice rituals and traditions, in all conceivable human interactions.

It goes without saying that educational institutions provide avenues for foremost social interactions and the university being the highest seats of learning do play its role to produce not only skilled workforce and high quality professionals for the state machinery but also dedicated and selfless leadership capable of moulding destiny of the nation.

In order to assess the progress of the university regarding its functions on providence of services and achievement of its mission, the Annual Report has been prepared not only as a statutory requirement but to factually highlight its strengths and weaknesses in order to review its policies for optimal performance and for setting a future direction accordingly.

The Annual Report for the academic Session 2007-08 provide a true picture of all the activities undertaken. The report may serve as a guiding post in formulating strategies for the future.

Let me invoke that preparation and presentation of Annual Report is a statutory requirement and must be taken seriously in providing correct and relevant information in time.

In the end, I pray for strength and farsight to work whole heartedly with full devotion and concentration to elevate this Alma matter to a world Class University.

Prof. Dr. Azmat Hayat
Vice-Chancellor

Department of Archaeology

Brief History

Staff and students of this Department feel pride in its strong foundation of teaching and research laid by its founding staff Professor (Dr.) Ahmad Hasan Dani, Professor (Dr.) Farzand Ali Durrani, Professor Farid Khan, Professor (Dr.) Abdur Rahman and Professor Fidaullah Sehrai. They untiringly worked hard to establish the first ever teaching Department among all others in Universities of the country and made it recognized by teaching and research of high standing world widely.

My appeal to the Faculty and students of this Department is to keep up the hardly earned name of this Department by the above mentioned torch-bearers who happen to be the beacon of light and rightly to be followed in their footsteps not only to carry their missions forward in the diverse fields of the discipline of Archaeology but also as good human beings as a priceless legacy they left for us.

Let us make a pledge that we shall follow them in letter and spirit and work for the betterment of the humanity by preserving the golden common human heritage.

Future plan

Objectives For The Session 2008-09

The Department was opened to train students for the better interest of the subject, nation and the country. We are the first to be credited for starting teaching and research in Archaeology. The first and foremost mission of the Department is to produce skilled personnel for promoting Archaeology at national and international level.

Ours is research-oriented job. We create sense of research amongst the students while graduating here. They get advanced training in and abroad in different fields of their interest for the promotion of knowledge in diverse areas of specialization.

The Department is also engaged in arousing awareness among the general masses to realize the status and importance of tangible and intangible cultural heritage of the country. Dissemination of relevant knowledge has greatly helped in promoting this awareness resulting in preservation of archaeological sites and monuments. Now the people are showing keen interest in reconstructing cultural heritage and ancient history of our homeland just because of the struggles of the staff and students of the Department.

The Department plays an instrumental role in promoting cultural tourism thereby accumulating foreign exchange to the government treasury. The protected monuments all over the country are frequently visited by tourists that also form a constant source of our income.

Our mission is also to strengthen political relations with the neighbouring countries by interacting with them in the domain of teaching and research. We are making progress in signing research projects with the top class Universities and Museums world over to delve deeper the roots and developmental march of civilizations that flourished on this soil. We are also aiming at sharing information pertaining to our subject with the international experts through holding seminars and conferences that are attended by a large number of renowned scholars and intellectual from different countries of the world. This is our mission to generate leadership qualities among the students and scholars of the Department to vie with their counterparts in other disciplines specially designed for the purpose.

Strategies For The Session 2008-09

- We are working on the proposal for upgrading the Department to an institute of Archaeology. It will have a provision for running 4-years integrated bachelor degree courses and a provision of research-based degrees of M.S. and Ph.D.
- It will also have the provision for training facilities to the In-service employees in different fields such as teachers, administrators and workers in education and tourism department.
- The Department is planning to hold an International Workshop on Gandharan Cultural Heritage in November 2009. (in jointly auspices with Department of Archaeology and Museums, Government of Pakistan and the RWTH Aachen University, FR Germany).

Department of History

Brief History

History is a study of the human past in its entirety, individual, society and state, the rise and fall of the dynasties and civilizations, the shaping of cultures and the making of social fabrics, learning lessons from the mistakes of the past people and seeking inspiration from their achievements and successes to reform our present and to secure an even better future. In the words of a scholar, "History is to nations what memory is to individuals". Without knowledge of history, we have no entity, no inspiration, no aim, no present and no future. A nation without advancement in the field of science and technology stands in the last row of the community of nations but a nation without knowledge of its history doesn't find place even in the last row... It stands No WHERE.

The Department of History, University of Peshawar is a reputed center of learning, an institution of higher learning and research in historical sciences. It can boast of producing some imminent scholars, researchers, writers, educationists, civil servants and enlightened politicians. We not only impart knowledge but promote an understanding of the knowledge and train our students in the art of civilized living.

The Department of History is presently located at the building housing the Area Studies Centre and Pakistan Studies Centre, facing the office of the Controller of Examinations, University of Peshawar. It is one of the pioneer departments of the University and a mother institution to many departments that originated from it like the Political Science Department, the International Relations Department, the Archaeology Department, the Social Studies and Social Work Department. It has a reputation of being one of the most well disciplined and organized departments in the University. The Department will soon be shifted to a new building being constructed by the University, which the students will find more conducive to studies and research.

Department of English and Applied Linguistics

Brief History

The Department of English & Applied Linguistics was established in 1950. From only four students in 1951, the Department has now a population of more than a hundred students (morning and evening). The MPhil program was started in 1987, which was upgraded to PhD in 1996. We have produced, uptill now, twelve quality MPhil graduates and three PhDs. The quality and success of our MPhil/PhD program depends on our very rigorous selection process. To indulge in extra-curricular and co-curricular activities, the students have their own literary club, The English Literary Club, whose name is taken from the famous 18th century circle of Dr. Johnson. In the year 2002, the Department was renamed as the Department of English & Applied Linguistics to reflect the diverse academic interests of the faculty. The Seminar Library of the Department is very rich and caters to the needs of MA and MPhil/PhD students.

Apart from the regular graduate and post graduate program, the Department offers various programs in Language and Linguistics. One such program is MS in Applied Linguistics. It is one year program with a rigorous coursework followed by a dissertation.

The Department offers two fields of study: MPhil/PhD in Literature, and MPhil/PhD in Applied Linguistics. Candidates shall offer the required number of courses from either Literature or Applied Linguistics. The Department reserves the right to offer all or some of the optional courses in a particular session, depending on availability of teachers.

The Department is running a very successful Language program for the students of FATA. It aims at enhancing the Language skills of the students enrolled to different undergraduate program in the University of Peshawar. Keeping in view, the success of this program, we are working on another such program to promote the Language skills of students.

Supported Open Learner Centre (SOLC) is a joint venture of the British Council and the Department. It is directed towards learners' autonomy and has become a great success within to a short time of eight months. SOLC is based in the Department, will become the department's sole venture very soon.

Department of Persian

Introduction

The Department of Persian was established in 1956. It has rendered Valuable services in promoting Persian Literature.

A part from the importance of Persian language in strengthening culture, Linguistic and spiritual links with other Islamic countries, the department Has been instrumental in preserving the cultural spiritual values of our Country. The period of Muslim ascendancy in south Asia is often referred

To as the Golden Age of the entire Muslim history in the subcontinent. The original material of the history of Muslim ascendancy in India is almost all in Persian. It is Saddening to observe that scholars of history who also possess a good knowledge of classical Persian are fast disappearing.

There is hardly any University teacher from Peshawar to Karachi who can directly read the original Persian source material and due to lack of proficiency in Persian, they read books written by Eastern writers and Indian historians and learn their own history from books written by alien hand. The Persian Department, University of Peshawar is the only source of hope in KPK where we can quench our thirst and produce graduates who can meet the above mentioned challenges.

Centre of Biotechnology

Vision

To explore new horizons in Biotechnology and Microbiology through education and research and realizing the potential of both for the creation of goods and services of value to society.

Mission

the institute has been serving as a teaching, training and research pivot in Biotechnology and Microbiology for the province. The institute is aware of the importance and applicability of Biotechnology and Microbiology and therefore will continue to play its catalytic role by motivating its students in their scholarly pursuits. We will prepare trained biotechnologists and microbiologists able to approach problems with creativity and flexibility. A key element in this preparation is active participation in the process of scientific discovery. The institute will make scholarly scientific and technological advances that will address the changing needs of society.

Objectives

- To prepare students to function as scientists and educators in a broad array of biological disciplines.
- To serve as permanent platform for generating trained manpower by imparting education and conducting research on the local problems.
- To collaborate with biotechnology firms, secondary schools, colleges, universities and public agencies and associations, and lay the groundwork to prepare the workforce for new biotech jobs.
- To serve as a launching pad for devising, using, and managing biotechnological tools for generation of products, processes and technologies.
- To augment the productivity, efficiency, and cost effectiveness of food and agriculture, health and medicine, environment-friendly technologies, bio conservation and bio industrial development.

Achievements

Distinctions
Departmental	The Institute has produced 02 Ph.D and 07 M.Phil scholars
Staff	Published more than 38 Research Papers in ISI indexed Journals and most of the faculty have won research productivity allowance.
Students Award	Sidra Zarin earn Gold medal in M.Sc Final Examination held August 2008.

Future Plan

As the demands generated by both education and research continue to intensify over the next decade and beyond, the Institute needs to work hard. Our priorities are the following:

Student excellence is not simply defined by grades but also includes a wide variety of knowledge, skills, abilities and experiences and we are committed to helping student achieve this broader definition of excellence.

The number of students seeking admission in M.Sc, M.Phil and Ph.D programs is increasing. For effective conduction of academic and research activities, development of infrastructure is the top most priority.

To establish dedicated research laboratories in the areas of faculty research specialization, an additional new Chemistry Research Building is proposed to be constructed. A brief of the proposed building has been sent to Planning and Development Office of the University of Peshawar so that a PC-I is prepared for obtaining developmental grant from HEC.

In order to bring the breadth and quality of our academic programs at par with world renowned Universities, the laboratories particularly the research laboratories need state of the art instruments and research facilities Rehabilitation of existing building.

Syllabus for Integrated Bachelor Program is in the process of approval from the relevant bodies.

This new curriculum could begin with the new class of 4- year Integrated Bachelor Program which will draw large enrollments in coming academic session (2010)

The Institute is conducting academic activities by offering specialization in seven areas of study. Conversion of each section into a Division will enable us to produce more knowledgeable graduates as per market demand.

Further strengthening of doctoral program

Establishment of collaboration with the reputed International Universities with focus on study abroad programs, student exchange programs, etc.

To arrange Refresher courses for college teachers.

To do home work for hosting 2nd National Conference on "Fuel and Environment" in 2010. Chemistry Conference in year 2009-2010.

To arrange seminars/workshops in order to give an opportunity to students and scholars to discuss among themselves and with intellectuals in the field of chemistry and allied Sciences. The Institute has planned for holding a symposium at Baragali Summer campus this summer.

To boost interdisciplinary research and to complete projects of applied nature.

To enhance the role of the library, by providing a reasonable stock of course and reference books besides relevant softwares.

A number of qualified faculty is at the verge of the retirement. New young, energetic and highly qualified faculty members will be recruited to strengthen teaching and research.

The Institute is planning to include new disciplines/areas of study in Master program

Financial support to the poor and needy students is necessary to attract and retain high quality, low-income students.

Industry academia liaison.

Establishment of a computer laboratory and providing Internet facilities to each laboratory.

In order to cope effectively with any incident, a vehicle is required. In addition, transport facilities for dayscholars shall be provided if funds are available.

In put on curriculum revision to make it more flexible and coherent and focus on increased student engagement learning opportunities, such as internships, field study, research projects, and the integration of applied projects into courses. Including courses addressing the needs of the local and regional communities is our priority

Keeping in view the prevailing poor security situation, Installation of security cameras is needed. Effective fire alarming system is needed.

Focus on inland and abroad training of laboratory staff.

Annual review of our existing academic programs and student outcomes assessment for future planning.

Meagre financial allocation has created significant challenges to cope effectively with the routine purchases of chemicals and glassware. Raising funds to support existing programs and to develop new ones is our priority

Vision

In order to deal with Environmental pollution and its related challenges, this Department would like to work for understanding the fundamental processes that contribute to Environmental pollution and natural resource degradation. It also carries out research on pollutant toxicity, food chain contamination, biological remediation of contaminated Environment (soil, sediments and water) and resource conservation and management. It helps to provide a congenial Environment for research, enhance human resources and cooperates with other related organizations/departments at national and international level.

Mission

To cater formal education, research and training in the field of Environmental Sciences at BES, MSc, M.Phil and PhD levels through course work and research.

To study and explain the significant role of biodiversity in establishing ecological balance, and deal with different types of ecosystems, food chains and webs, productivity, biomass, and carrying capacity of ecosystems.

To provide a good research environment and publish research findings in international and national journals.

To work for water and natural resource conservation, watershed management, and deal with the impact of ethical principles in the conservation of wild life, biodiversity and environment.

To offer short and long term certificate and diploma level courses and training sessions in the field of Environmental Sciences for mid carrier professionals working in public and private sector organizations.

To provide professional services such as special trainings, tests/analyses, surveys, certification and consultancies to the manufacturing and processing industry, NGOs, CBOs, engineering firms and private consultants in all related fields of environment

Study Tour /Field Trips
S.No	Detail
1.	The department has arranged short and long study tours to the areas of geographical interest, during the academic session 2008-09, to Attock, Islamabad, Murree and Galiyat region. A long study tour was made to Lahore and its surrounding area to study the geography of the area including geomorphology, settlement geography, natural hazards,urbanization, agriculture etc. During these study trips, the students carried out exercises on map reading, topographic sheets, Global Positioning System and collected relevant geographical data from the field.

Future Plan

The department has no geomorphological laboratory which is essential for the effective implementation of geomorphology teaching which is an integral part of the M.Sc (Previous / Final) curriculum. It was planned to establish a laboratory in 2008-2009, but the main constraint of the Department is space. Due to large number of students of two Masters, M.Phil/Ph.D programmes in Geography and Urban & Regional, there is no space in the Department for further expansion and establishment of laboratories and weather observatory.

Therefore, it has been planned to submit a PC-I for the establishment of the Institute of Geography and Geomatics including GIS & Remote Sensing, with a new building and more space for further developments in the field of Geographical Sciences.

The Department will be developed as a model department of Geography, Urban & Regional Planning in future, focusing on enhancement and sustenance of an academic environment conducive to the excellence in teaching, research and community service in the field of Geographical Sciences and Urban Regional Planning.

Department of Geology

Introduction

The Department of Geology was established in 1959 with a three years B.Sc (Hons) degree programme whereas Master's degree, M.Phil and Ph. D programmes were started in 1967 and 1994 respectively. Recently in 2004 the department has upgraded the 3years B.Sc (Hons) degree programme to 4 years BS Geology degree. This has made it a unique institute of its kind in the country where an F.Sc student entering into the geology programme can graduate with a Ph.D degree in geology.

The department has highly qualified, research-oriented, teaching staff with advanced degrees from UK, USA and Australia. Some of the graduates of the department are the recipients of national and international awards for their excellence in academic and scientific research. The department has been regularly upgrading and introducing new courses/specializations to incorporate latest research and developments in the field of earth sciences. The leading edge in the courses and faculty research coupled with organization of national seminars /symposia / workshops/specialized courses has earned good name for the department. Being a sole earthscience institute of N.W.F.P., offering bachelor and master's degrees in geology, the department has been producing earthscience professionals to cater the needs of the country. At present, alumni of the department are working in various geological organizations like, Geological Survey of Pakistan (GSP), Pakistan Atomic Energy Commission, FATA D.C., SDA, PMDC, WAPDA, SHYDO, SUPARCO, RDA, HDIP, FWO, AKMIDC, LMKR, teaching and research institutes of the country and several other organizations in the private sector. The recently upgraded Petroleum Geology/Basin Analysis programme of the department supported by additional applied courses and industry-oriented applied research has greatly helped our graduates to join, highly competitive, well paid, petroleum industry jobs in the national as well as international oil companies.

The department faculty has been involved in several Research Projects Funded by PSF, HEC, Peshawar University, ICIMOD and various oil companies.

The program is further strengthened by the incorporation of extensive, mandatory, field studies at undergraduate and graduate levels. Faculty-guided study tours of several mountainous terrains like Malakand, Swat, Hunza, Gilgit, Hazara, Kohat, Khyber Agency, Attock-Cherat, Swabi, Potwar, Salt and Trans-Indus ranges provide the student an ideal opportunity to study stratigraphic, sedimentologic, petrogenetic, tectonic and structural relationships.

The department has developed collaborative research programmes with reputed international academic and research institutions. This interaction paved way for the exchange of scientists and helped to improve our academic performance and understand several complex geological phenomena in various areas of the country.

Department of Zoology

Objectives

Teaching, Research, Consultancy and Community Service

Mission

The Department of Zoology is committed to the production of well-rounded international standard graduates of, M. Sc., M. Phil and Ph. D level in areas of Zoology including Entomology, Parasitology, Fisheries, Microbiology and Biotechnology maintaining high level of integrity and responsibility at individual and departmental level; and conducting quality research, and producing well trained teachers and to participate in community development projects.

Vision

To act as a leader of excellence and performance in its objectives in the country

Goal

To study, know, love and to serve the entire creation of the Creator

Program Objectives

- To provide graduates who are familiar with basic and an advance level of Zoology and its various disciplines, which are exploited, in many fields of life
- To provide theoretical and practical knowledge of various zoological aspects, their knowledge, which are required for professional activities in the field.
- The graduates who are able to manipulate and utilize their training correctly and grasp a realistic approach to the conservation of animals as well as their habitats.
- To prepare graduates with the skills and knowledge of all aspects of life.
- To produce graduates with the skills to critically analyze samples of environmental and biological importance.
- The graduate should be able to use the skills of analytical biological information in selecting and executing the appropriate biological analysis techniques in various fields of zoology.
- Zoology old name with modern usage
- Zoology continues to be one of the most important scientific fields in the modern era. However, while there is a fundamental core to biological science, the rapid advances being made in many specific areas have led to a wide variety of different specialisations that can be studied in their own right. In the Department, we teach a broad range of biological science courses. Accordingly, we have designed this degree programme to be as flexible as possible, giving you the opportunity to explore main-interest subjects and allowing you to develop new interests and, if you wish, specialisations as you progress through the degree. At the end of two and half years, graduates have received a sound biological training, completed at least one major research project, and possibly developed a firm career direction as a result of specialised studies. For example, specialising in Parasitology will provide unrivalled training in both temperate and tropical diseases, enabling graduates to follow a career at home or overseas. Studying Ecology will interest those who wish to understand biodiversity and how organisms interact with each other and the environment. A wide range of courses from behavioural ecology to environmental impact assessment provides an excellent basis for a career in conservation or environmental management. Fisheries are another major strength. Students who wish to keep all options open and study a broad spectrum of subjects take the wider area of Biology itself. The breadth of courses available, coupled with a final year research project, ensures that you will be able to apply for a wide range of career openings with confidence.

Department of Journalism and Mass Communication

Brief History

Communication Science is one of the rapidly expanding modern disciplines of our present day world. It is gaining increasing popularity for various reasons; the best known of them is the shrinking world we are in, in an era of communication revolution. The emergence of the Global Village has changed the very life cycles of the people of this world. It has brought distant cultures to touchable distances and juxtaposed alien people to one another for best and for worst. Discussing the New World is the problem the whole academia is facing around the globe. Since communication science is one of the major harbingers of this change, the responsibility rests heavily upon the communication scientists to find answers to the problems of the new world within its own academic parameters.

The New World has brought its own boon and bane. It has also developed questions of adjustment and change in a new time and space setting. International and intercultural communication is two of the direct offshoots of the present environment. How to understand the world around us in a global perspective and how to adjust within a very compressed comity of cultures are the main questions confronting the whole world. Since we are living in a part of world that is commonly known as the developing world, we are also facing the question of development. Paradigms of development are constantly under flux with the developing world researchers challenging the fixed and one-sided verdicts of the developed world.

The department is expected to start MPhil/PhD programme in near future. This programme aims at finding solution to our own communication problems through developing answers from within, avoiding wearing western spectacles to see our own society; although respecting the other's view as the common human heritage.

Keeping in view these aims research will specifically aim at problems of communication and social change. The final aim of this programme is to develop guide studies that could serve as model studies for further development of the body of knowledge required to establish the discipline of communication science on firm footing on its own soil first. This would naturally add to the developing world communication literature ending up in enlarging the human body of knowledge in the discipline.

Brief History

The dawn of independence opened a new era of Library and Information & Information Science education in Pakistan. NWFP, the land of brave People could not gain any amenity from the British rulers in pre-partition era, but soon after three years of independence of Pakistan, University of Peshawar was established in 1950 while library-of the University of Peshawar started functioning in 1951. Academic faculties and their libraries needed trained library scientists that pushed the need forward for establishing department of Library & Information Sciences which was established in 1962, to cope with all future library needs. It started postgraduate diploma course, DLS. In spite of lack of funds, teaching staff, building, etc, the Master Degree Programme in Library and Information Sciences was started in 1983-84. ## College of Home Economics

Brief History

The study of Home Economics as a distinct discipline was introduced in the country soon after the emergence of Pakistan. Initially, a separate department, devoted to the subject, was set-up in 1954 by the University of Peshawar, in collaboration with Colorado State University, USA. The department was later upgraded to College status in 1963. It is one of the four colleges in Pakistan devoted to the study of Home Economics, for developing a complete education programme for female students to meet the challenges of a free society. The institution equips young women with the specialized knowledge in the field of interior design, textile design, small business management, teaching, and research.

This field of study extends opportunities for pursuing careers in any of the above professions. Therefore, it has acquired a special significance in moulding the female generation, providing them with an opportunity to study a unique blend of both science and art related subjects. It also opens up future avenues for personal, professional and social enhancement.

Vision

“Ours Is the Privilege to Mould the Society”

Mission

The College of Home Economics, a unique institution of its nature in the University of Peshawar, is committed to provide quality Home Economics education at the undergraduate, graduate, postgraduate and M.Phil. / Ph.D. levels.

The College upholds and stands by the aims of International Federation of Home Economics, which are:

To educate about the universal values of households and families as environments within which individuals are assisted to reach their full potential and to acknowledge their global interdependence.

To promote awareness that families and households are the prime nurturing environments for every human being and that mental, physical, psychological and emotional family well-being is the basic infrastructure for all other forms of social and economic development.

To emphasize the social, economic and environmental impact of the management of everyday life of individuals, families and households.

To promote the concept of families and households as operating within a larger social, economic and physical environment with a myriad of exchanges between individuals and these larger environments on a daily basis.

To conduct research in areas relevant to Home Economics (individual, household and family issues related to the satisfaction of physical and psychological needs) which expand the understanding of the ecological view of individuals, families and households in the larger environment.

Objectives

- To provide up to date and modern education to the students.
- To inculcate true appreciation of religious and Islamic values in the practical lives of the students.
- To develop social sensibilities and prepare students to cope better with their various roles not only as individuals, but as family members and citizens of the state.
- To develop a positive attitude towards life.

- To gear women towards professional careers and a general socio-economic development.
- To develop confidence in young women to realize the importance of their distinct role as nation builders.
- To expose the students to the latest knowledge and technology to familiarize them with the advancements in the industrial sector.

Future Plan

The Department plans to start 4 years B.Sc. Hons. Programme in the near future.

Efforts are Underway to solve space problems.

Teaching laboratories are to be upgraded in the next two years times.

Department of Statistics

Vision

Existing physical facilities available are: One computer lab, a seminar library with books mostly catering to the needs of M.Sc. and M.Phil/Ph.D. Statistics Students, Three class rooms, 9 faculty offices, an office for the ministerial staff, and a girls common room.

The department has currently one computer lab which does not have sufficient facilities for the existing students (given the fact that “Data Processing and Statistical Computing” is now a compulsory subject). With the introduction of new programmes and further enrollment of students, we shall require enhanced computing facilities with a more sophisticated and large computer lab. It would be desirable to have separate computer labs for masters and research students as well as faculty members respectively.

Presently, the department has no space for seminar/conference activities. With the growing academic activities, we shall need a well-furnished and spacious hall for seminar/conference purposes.

The Department has introduced new curriculum for the M. Sc. program which includes study tours and field trips to various statistical and research organizations, collecting data and report writing. Further, as stated earlier, the department intends to introduce new and more applied academic programs, which shall involve extensive visits of students to the field and to various organizations throughout the country.

The department of Statistics is going through an expansion stage both in academic and organizational structures. The time has come to introduce new disciplines of Biostatistics and Demography. Both master and PhD degrees will be offered in these subjects. We shall have to recruit more faculties, and shall have to provide more space, computing as well as library facilities to the growing number of students. For the purpose of field trips and surveys, we shall need appropriate vehicles for students as well as faculty members. The funding proposed will enable us to fulfill our vision of turning the department of Statistics into a real center of excellence. The department of Statistics would be able not only to provide better education and research facilities in the field of statistics, but also to provide a platform for statistical collaboration with researchers from other fields of knowledge.

Mission

The mission of the Department of Statistics is to serve the country by producing qualified world-scale competent Statisticians, who can meet the demand of government, non governmental organizations and academia as a qualified and skilled workforce.

Objectives

- To increase interaction among academic, industry and government organizations.
- To highlight the role of Statistics and its importance in research.
- To provide help and consultation in data analysis to researchers working in various fields and industrial organizations.
- To provide market oriented graduates and scholars to be able to share and contribute their expertise to the market.
- To be a model department with focus on enhancement and sustenance of an academic environment conducive to excellence in teaching, research and community services.
- The department goals have been identified in terms of students’ performance, enhanced learning and research.

Department of Political Science

Brief History

Established in 1962, the Department of Political Science is one of the oldest teaching departments of the University of Peshawar. Prof. Dr. Mrs. Afsar Saleem Khan was one of the pioneering founders who undertook much struggle for the establishment of the department. The learned professor had a team of over-zealous faculty who extended all out support to her in those early years when the department had no building of its own. Among those dedicated personalities, the names of Prof. Dr. Asrar Hussain, Dr. Muhammad Riaz of Law College and Prof. Dr. Raja Muhammad Naib will always be remembered who left no stone unturned in strengthening the foundation of the department and raising its standard of excellence .

In 1974, courses of International Relations and Public Administration were introduced. The rapid development soon necessitated bifurcation and the result was the birth of two separate departments in 1982 namely the Department of International Relations and that of the Public Administration (currently the Institute of Management Studies). The department has been catering to the needs of young students of the N.W.F.P in the science of politics so as to enable them to enrich and broaden their understanding of politics and thus become responsible citizens of Pakistan. The department is proud of supplying enormous manpower resources to the prestigious civil service of Pakistan. The Department's Website is www.dops.edu.pk

Vision

To be one of the leading departments of the University of Peshawar with the needed talent and opportunities where youth of the nation in general and those of the frontier province in particular could be proud of seeking knowledge for their masters' and research degrees.

Mission

The department aims at achieving continuous progress in imparting education / training to students so as to train them to shoulder future responsibilities in a manner that satisfies the expectations of the nation. To achieve the objective, the department has been updating / revising its syllabi so as to cope with the educational needs of a fast moving world.

The department is committed to produce a core of young politicians believing in the service of the nation and dedicated to raise and strengthen the image of Pakistan in the comity of nations.

Objectives

- To provide quality education in the discipline of Political Science at all levels – Masters', M. Phil and Ph.D;
- To provide a platform to the young students where they can sharpen their potentials in order to be dynamic leaders of tomorrow;
- To serve as a think tank by supplying to the policy making institutions of the nation the needed inputs based on discussions in seminars and conferences.

Department of Psychology

Brief History

University of Peshawar was established on 30th October, 1950. The Department of Psychology came into existence in 1964. Professor Dr. Shahabuddin Muhammad Moghni, laid the foundations of Psychology Department as its first Professor and Chairman. Although Psychology was introduced for the first time in N-WFP, yet the number of students enrolled was quite large. There were 25 students in all, (13 boys and 12 girls). Prof. Dr. S. M. Moghni was the sole person who had to look after administration as well as teaching and research. There was no separate building. In fact there was only one class room vacated by the Department of Geology on the ground floor. Another room on first floor was given by the Department of Geography, which served as a lecture room. Neither a Seminar library was available, nor a laboratory, both of which were of utmost importance for graduate students of Psychology.

Above all, the text books were not available in the market. The students could manage to purchase only a few books during the first academic session (1964-65) and some were supplied by the Department. The first person to join Professor Moghni in this endeavor was Professor Dr. Zafar Afaq Ansari (remained Director NIP, and Chairman, Department of Psychology, IIU, Malaysia; now in California, USA). He joined this Department as a Lecturer in December 1964. The syllabi approved for the Previous Year class consisted of three theory papers (History of Psychology; Abnormal Psychology; Social Psychology) and Laboratory work. Dr. Moghni was teaching History of Psychology Including Introductory & Experimental Psychology whereas Dr. Ansari was teaching Abnormal Psychology as well as supervising the Laboratory work (including a basic course in Statistics). Teaching load was greatly increased when the previous year students were promoted to the final class. The same faculty members had to teach three more theory papers (Experimental Psychology, Physiological Psychology, Testing and Measurement), and practicum. In January 1966, Professor Dr. Alay Ahmad joined the faculty as a Lecturer and shared the teaching responsibilities. In 1965-66, the Department was able to purchase some text books and laboratory equipment and began to hum with Experimental and Testing activities. Due to lack of space in the original building, the Department was shifted to Quaid-e-Azam College of Commerce in late 1966. In 1968, Professor Dr. Mah Nazir Riaz, one of the first graduates, joined the Department as a Lecturer. By 1969, the faculty expanded. It consisted of one Professor, four Lecturers, and one Demonstrator. But the sojourn in the Commerce College was too brief and its classes had to move to Youth Hostel (the building to the right of the department, now IMS Junior section). A new building for this Department was considered a must by the University because its activities had greatly expanded. The present building is the outcome of that great-felt need and was designed specially as Psychology Department. The Department moved in here in 1972 and started expanding in terms of Faculty members, Seminar Library, Laboratory Equipment and Psychological Tests etc. Professor Dr. Farhana Jahangir (now VC, Frontier Women University) joined in 1979, Professor Dr. Maher Bano in 1980, Dr. Nasim Riaz Sahibzada in 1980 (now a consultant psychologist in Maryland, DC), Dr. Rahat Sajjad (Retd.) in 1982, Professor Dr. Zulfiqar Hussain Gilani (Retd.) in 1982 (also remained VC of our University, now in Canada), Dr. Nighat Gillani in 1987 (later Associate Professor at NIP, now in Canada), Dr. Muhammad Jahanzeb Khan (the present Chair) in 1990, Dr. Erum Irshad in 1996, Dr. Summiya Hayat Bangash in 2002, and Ms. Roomana Zeb in 2008. In 1995 a Mass Communication Lab, was established by Dr. Alay Ahmad, and in 1997-98 a Computer section was established by Dr. Muhammad Jahanzeb Khan during Dr. Mah Nazir's tenure. Prof. Dr. Shahabuddin Muhammad Moghni retired in 1986 and passed away in 1988. Prof. Dr. Alay Ahmad retired in 1997 and is serving in Preston University as Dean of Social Sciences now. Prof. Dr. Mah Nazir Riaz retired in 2002 and now serving as Dean and Chair of Psychology in Frontier Women University Peshawar. Dr. Rahat Sajjad retired in 2009.

The Department presently offers specialization in Social Psychology, Clinical Psychology, Psychological Testing, Counseling, Developmental Psychology, and Experimental Psychology. The Department is equipped with a Library, Laboratory for experimentation, a Computer section, and a Mass Communication laboratory. We are also offering M.Sc. programme in the afternoon. We have started 4-years Integrated BS programme on Term Basis from the Fall Semester, 2009 and soon going to start with Diploma in Clinical Psychology and Industrial/Organizational Psychology. We are also planning to offer some certificate courses. The Department also publishes a research journal Khyber Behavioural Studies

The College faces many difficulties in providing all its students with hostel accommodation. To overcome the problem temporarily the College has lent the use of its storerooms next to the hostel as temporary accommodation. But this is still not enough to overcome our growing requirements. Hence, we require your complete cooperation and help to overcome this pressing problem.

The College keeping pace with the development around the world would like to start B.S Chemistry and B.S Computer Science. This is only possible if we are given the resources to develop a Science Block with Computer Science laboratories. We have been provided grant by the Government to buy the equipment but we cannot move forward with our plans unless we have a proper Science Block.

Sir, to run the College efficiently, we require a full-fledged faculty. This year seven members of our staff have retired. They served the College with great dedication and their retirement is a great loss academically. Further, more, we have a great number of staff that is on College fund or on contract. I will be grateful if they are made permanent members of the faculty and the staff that has retired is replaced by fresh inductions.

Our problems are manifold and we require your help and support in overcoming these very genuine difficulties.

Materials Research Laboratory

Vision

Keeping in view the mineral strength of the region, poor academia-industry collaboration and poor research culture in our academic institutions, the long term vision behind the establishment of Materials Research Laboratory is to introduce this particular field of research in the region and country which will ultimately lead to the establishment of a modern model world-class Material's Research Institute (with 24 hours access) in our province for scientific & industrial development of the region and country. This will enhance the confidence of the local investors/industrialists, students, applied scientists and academic institutions through government support in the development of sectors having direct impact on the society and devise strategies for creating awareness in the region for research and hence economic development.

Mission

Our universities are successful in producing high quality graduates to some extent but need revolutionary steps to raise their research standards to global level. Our Government has realized its importance and therefore, the Higher Education Commission (HEC) of Pakistan has launched several programs to encourage and support such efforts. The Centralized Resource Lab & several centers of excellence at the University of Peshawar have been established through HEC and/or government's financial support. Unfortunately, we had no high standard material's research labs in the country which has become a compulsory part of each and every higher education institution in the developed world. The vision behind the establishment of MRL is to make our research activities in line with the available local resources and requirements of the region. Obviously this will optimize the utilization of our mineral, human and natural resources.

Objectives

Keeping in view the immediate requirements, the main objectives of MRL are to:

1. explore various ways to optimize the utilization of our mineral wealth through modern scientific approach and reduce their wastage
2. Produce at least 3-4 highly skilled graduates at PhD level per annum on a regular base after establishment and equilibration of the project.
3. Establish linkages with national and international institutions and industry to share mutual knowledge and expertise.
4. Develop curricula and relevant infrastructure for BS and MS programs in Material Science and registration for BS and MS degrees in the second phase.

Plan for Future

Substantial progress has been made on the running projects and new projects and programs are being planned to extend activities related to Materials Research in the University of Peshawar. In this regard, work is underway on the introduction of Materials Science at BS and MS levels, collaboration with other government departments is being developed such as with Directorate of S&T, Pakistan Science Foundation, Materials Testing Laboratory Hayatabad and local industry. PC1 for the establishment of Model Materials Research has been presented and submitted to the Honourable Governor NWFP; however, no practical progress has been made so far. So in order to enhance research activities in the region and develop the region economically a model materials research institute is urgently needed to encourage and technically support local industry which will lead to the creation of jobs, increase in our export potential and develop our region and country

Centralized Resource Laboratory

Brief History

Research Laboratories are the basic requirement of any good educational institution, where both the students and teachers (researchers) see the science in its real sense. Research laboratories are so important today that we cannot separate teaching from research in any institution of higher learning. The standard of any institution of higher studies is determined by the quality of research being conducted along with the quality of its graduates produced.

The idea of establishing the Centralized Resource Laboratory is to provide facilities to Teaching and Research Community where modern, sophisticated and state of the Art equipment are placed. Such equipments are chosen, which are of diverse use and are beyond the purchase power of an individual department to avoid duplication of expensive equipments and to get their maximum use. Most of these equipments are housed in the Centralized Resource Laboratory, situated in Physics Department, University of Peshawar.

The source of funding of these equipments is the Government of Pakistan through Higher Education Commission, Islamabad. First grant of Rs.39 Million was received after approval of PC-I prepared by the University of Peshawar. Another PC-I was prepared for the second phase and submitted to the Higher Education Commission in October 2002 and a further grant of Rs. 37 Million was approved for the extension of the Laboratory. The overall grant was for the purchase of equipment, without any construction work. The entire amount has been consumed. The space for the establishment of this laboratory was provided by the Physics Department.

The work on the laboratory started in June 2001 and in five years time all the equipment were imported, working environment created and equipment are installed. Now all these equipments are in working condition. The idea of establishment of Centralized Resource Laboratory is appreciated by Ministry of Science and Technology and University Grants Commission (now Higher Education Commission) so much that they advised other Universities to establish similar Laboratories. Another proposal included in University Mega Project is submitted for the addition of more research facilities.

Facilities in CRL

Staff Training Institute, Univeristy of Peshawar

Brief History

Staff Training Institute (STI) was founded in 1985 with the idea to provide on-job training to university teachers. Given the expansion of disciplines and sub-disciplines and the introduction of new pedagogical skills it is of paramount importance that teachers are kept abreast with new skills and ideas. STI has been holding workshops, seminars, and training for the University of Peshawar teachers and employees regularly. STI needs more support and patronage to continue with the work it is doing

Future plan

STI plans to expand itself both geographically and professionally. Housed in a two-room space, it has to depend on the availability of space in other sister departments.

STI also intend to integrate the training it imports into the UoP service structures

Students' Societies

Brief History

The students' of the University of Peshawar are amongst the 3% privileged ones in Pakistan who got the opportunity of admission to this prestigious seat of high learning. Apart from imparting quality education through standard academic procedure to provide skilled leadership to the society, the university equally takes care of personality building of students by a wide range of co-curricular activities. Managers of the students try their level best to use this platform as a principal vehicle for channelizing their potential for good end, give vent to their bubbly feelings, broaden their vision in the global context and refine their qualities as national architects.

Khyber Literary Club established in 1986 as a pioneer society got its legal status recognized in 1994 with the decision of the Honorable Supreme Court whereby an alternate platform has to be provided to the students to ward them off the undesirable political activities, where they were enslaved by venomous designs of political parties. In the light of this ruling, later on, nine more societies namely Adventure and Hiking Club, Blood Donor Society, Creative art Society, Culture and Dramatic society, Khyber Literary Club, Peshawar University Rifle Association, Science Society, Social Welfare and Awareness Society and Sports Society were established.
